Re: Jim Geldermann

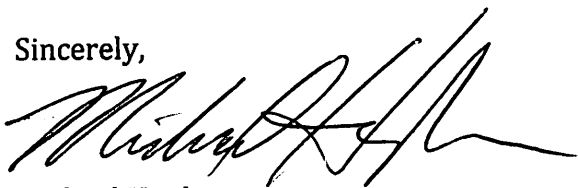

National Produce Sales Inc. is a distributor of vegetables throughout the United States. We have had field offices since we started in 2000.

Jim Geldermann set up our customized sales/inventory/transportation/Data storage/ invoicing and every detail associated with each of these areas. All of our field offices work in real time and use the internet as a network before many large companies even thought of doing it. Through time as high speed service has become very common it has allowed us to do more and faster.

We recently opened a distribution facility. We started at about 10,000 weekly sales and grew quickly to 100,000.00 in weekly sales. The system that Jim provided for us helped us achieve the growth and control.

I highly recommend Jim and his services based on his knowledge of business and technology.

Sincerely,
